

George Peterson wins hospice award

GALESBURG — George Peterson of Hinchliff-Pearson-West recently was named winner of the annual John W. McClean Award. The award was created to recognize an individual for dedication to the mission of Hospice Compassus — to provide palliative and supportive care for the terminally ill patient.

Peterson joined the Prairieland Hospice Board of Directors during the early founding years. He has remained an active supporter as the organization has evolved into Community Hospices of America and now Hospice Compassus. The award was presented at the sixth annual John W. McClean award dinner in the Lincoln Room at Knox College.
